A Comprehensive 5-Part Drug Education Curriculum for Grades 3-6.

The Drug Facts Action Pack Series

Grades 3-6 2009 CC 20 min each Human Relations Media
#600519DV-W0

Available on DVD or Whiteboard.

SPECIAL SERIES PRICE - ONLY $795 - SAVE $150 - Order #600519DV-W0

Drug-education experts agree that targeted, age-appropriate elementary school drug education is essential to safeguarding students against the hazards of drug use and addiction. This fact-filled program uses a mix of teen hosts, kids talking about real-life experiences, animated characters and creative skits. Formats include spoofs on classic movies, game shows, courtroom programs and science investigation shows. Students will learn valuable information they can easily understand, process and remember. The videos are filled with fascinating facts, as well as concrete ways to resist peer pressure, to make good decisions and to avoid dangerous situations. Each video models positive behavior by featuring an outstanding student who has faced drugs but resisted and steered clear of danger. While the presentation is fast-paced and entertaining, the message is unmistakable: Drugs are dangerous and deadly.

Series Includes: Includes 5 programs on 1 DVD, an extensive teacher's guide, printable fact sheets and activity sheets for students, and pre/post tests.

The five videos on one DVD are:

Totally True Facts about Alcohol

Features clear information about various types of alcoholic beverages and their alcohol levels. Discusses alcohol as a depressant drug and its dangerous effects on the central nervous system. Illustrates the many health risks associated with drinking as well as the devastating effects of alcohol addiction.

Totally True Facts about Tobacco

Presents hard-hitting information about tobacco's toxic ingredients, including the highly addictive drug nicotine. Explores long and short term health risks and includes segments on second-hand smoke, tobacco advertising, and the newest varieties of smokeless and spitless tobacco products.

Totally True Facts about Marijuana

Examines how marijuana causes short term problems including anxiety, distorted perceptions and impaired memory. Discusses the effects of long term marijuana use - social, physical and mental.

Totally True Facts about Inhalants

Clearly defines inhalants and explains why they are so deadly. Includes information about their side effects - nausea, dizziness and headaches. Features information on the physical effects including Sudden Sniffing Death and permanent organ damage.

Totally True Facts about Prescription and Over-the-Counter Medications

Thoroughly examines the difference between using medications safely and abusing them to get high. Explores abuse of over-the-counter drugs.

A comprehensive 5-Part Drug Education Curriculum for Grades 9 & up.

Drugs: The Straight Facts Series

Grades 9-Adult 2010 CC 20 min each Films for the Humanities

SPECIAL SERIES PRICE - ONLY $549.75 - SAVE $50

Series Ordering #393689DV-W0

Individual titles: $119.95 each

The only antidote to the flashy appeal of drugs is honest information. Give your students the straight facts on many of the most widely abused substances with this five-part series.

Alcohol and Sex

“Alcohol isn’t a drug.” “A cup of coffee will sober me up.” “I’m always a safe driver, even after a couple of beers.” These statements are only a few of the myths this video skewers as it explores the history of alcohol, a substance first used as a medicine; the effects of alcohol on the body and the short- and long-term health impacts; and teenage attitudes toward alcohol and trends such as binge drinking. The video also examines the prevalence of alcohol in American culture and discusses alcoholism—how to identify it and how to treat it.

#393684DV-W0 $119.95: DVD

Marijuana

Marijuana has the distinction of being the most widely used illicit drug in the United States. This video traces the history of marijuana and goes on to explain some of the many uses of the hemp plant; the effects of THC—the primary psychoactive chemical in marijuana, sinsemilla, hashish, and hash oil—on the body; the short- and long-term health implications of marijuana abuse; and teenage attitudes toward marijuana. In addition, the video investigates the concept of psychological dependency and considers whether marijuana is a gateway drug.

#393685DV-W0 $119.95: DVD

Cocaine and Crack

The pleasure of a cocaine high doesn’t last long, but the damage cocaine causes can last a lifetime. This video explores the history of cocaine; the effects of cocaine and crack on the body and the short- and long-term health impacts; and teenage attitudes toward cocaine and crack. The video also delves into the illicit cocaine trade and the South American cartels that control it, as well as addiction to cocaine—both physical and psychological.

#393686DV-W0 $119.95: DVD

Narcotics: Heroin, Opium, Codeine, and Morphine

Strictly speaking, the term “narcotic” refers to opium, opium derivatives, and their synthetic substitutes. This video delves into the history of narcotics such as heroin, opium, codeine, and morphine; the effects of narcotics on the body and the short- and long-term health impacts; and teenage attitudes toward narcotics. In addition, the video considers legalization and regulatory issues involving narcotics, as well as physical and psychological addiction to these potent drugs.

#393687DV-W0 $119.95: DVD

Inhalants

Since chemicals in more than 1,400 products can be sniffed or huffed for their psychoactive and mind-altering effects, it’s not surprising that inhalants are the most frequently abused substances in the U.S. This video explores the history of inhalant abuse; the effects of inhalants on the body and the short- and long-term health impacts; and teenage attitudes toward inhalants. The major classes of commonly abused inhalants and treatment and prevention measures are described in the video as well.

Spit This! The Hazards of Smokeless Tobacco

Grades 7-Adult 2009 CC 20 min Human Relations Media
Give your students the facts to counter the recent 30% rise in male adolescent smokeless tobacco use. This program combines an engaging narrative storyline with hard-core facts about all kinds of smokeless tobacco products—spit, snuff, chew as well as newer nicotine-delivery products designed to appeal to those who are uncomfortable with spitting out tobacco juice. Pays special attention to the up-and-coming generation of “spitless” tobacco products (such as snus and pouches) now promoted by tobacco companies eager to rev up sales.
Includes: 20-minute video, Research-Based, teacher’s resource book and student handouts with pre/post test.

Buzz in a Bottle:

The Dangers of Caffeine-Spiked Energy Drinks

Grades 7-12 2009 CC 20 min Human Relations Media
With the lure of an over-the-counter jolt, kids are consuming more energy drinks than ever before and in many cases mixing them with alcohol. Through vivid interviews with teens and health experts, the video describes the many physical effects that these concoctions have including dizziness, fainting, heart palpitations, caffeine poisoning, headaches, fatigue, diminished concentration, anxiety, insomnia, shaking, nausea, and high blood pressure. Even more alarming is the trend of mixing these beverages with alcohol, thus allowing users to drink more alcohol than they normally would and putting them at a greater risk for alcohol poisoning.
Includes: 20-minute video, Research-Based, teacher’s resource book and student handouts with pre/post test.
#600510DV-W0 $189: DVD

Dangerous Decisions: Learning to Think Before You Act

Grades 7-12 2009 CC 20 min Human Relations Media
Teens today are exposed to many risks—the ready availability of drugs, tobacco and alcohol; pressure to have sex; dangers on the Internet; inexperienced, drowsy and drunk driving; extreme diets; and more. When faced with difficult and life-altering decisions, teens often lack the skills needed to understand and evaluate the potential problems before they choose to act. This program provides a step-by-step approach to learning and applying good decision-making skills. Includes risk assessment and risk management tools for all areas of their lives, from school to friends to work to situations that potentially endanger their well-being. Profiles several teens who talk about decisions they now regret. With hindsight, what could they have done to achieve a different and better outcome? Describes how risk taking is a normal part of adolescence while emphasizing the importance of distinguishing between healthy and unhealthy risks.
Includes: 20-minute video, Research-Based, teacher’s resource book and student handouts with pre/post test.

Out of the Wild: W5

An investigation into Lyme Disease

Adult 2009 CC 20 min CTV
W5 investigates Lyme disease in Canada. An illness like Lyme disease, that can be caught in the outdoors, should be a priority for Canadian doctors to diagnose. Instead, the tiny microbe is often missed and patients’ complaints often dismissed. Critics and Lyme disease sufferers say their illness isn’t taken seriously enough and the ‘ignorance’ and ‘arrogance’ of Canadian health agencies has driven them to desperation.

Test Your Fast Food Knowledge

Grades 9 - Adult 2010 20 min Human Relations Media
Because many teens eat at fast food restaurants, this video is designed to meet them on their own turf and give them the tools to make smarter and healthier fast food decisions. Using an entertaining quiz format, viewers learn about the dangers of eating too much over-processed, sugar-laden and fat-packed fast food. Participants examine the calorie counts and nutritional breakdown of a fast food jumbo cheeseburger meal to demonstrate the overabundance of fats, trans fats and high calorie content per serving. Program then compares typical items on menus from different fast food restaurants. Viewers learn that you can actually make smart choices at the fast food counter because not all fast food is bad for you. Weight control, balanced diet, vitamins and nutrients can all be part of a smart, limited fast-food diet.
Includes: 20-minute video, research-based teacher’s resource book and students handouts with pre/post test.

The Alzheimer's Project Series

Grades 11-Adult 2009 Films for the Humanities

Alzheimer's disease affects millions in North America—and as the Baby Boomer generation moves through retirement, that number could more than double. While there is not yet a cure for this disease—more feared than any other except cancer—this four-part series shows there is now genuine reason to be optimistic about controlling and, eventually, eliminating it. The series also takes a humane but honest look at the devastating effects of Alzheimer's on patients and those who love them.

"A powerful, heart-wrenching cinéma vérité portrait of lives devastated by Alzheimer's disease.... this timely, awareness-raising series is highly recommended." —Video Librarian (cover story)

SERIES PRICE – $1011.80
Series Product #393839DV-W0

The Memory Loss Tapes

This program puts a human face on the progression of Alzheimer's disease as it profiles seven people, ages 63 to 87, at different stages of the illness. Cases range from a woman fiercely holding onto her independence even as memory lapses make it harder and harder to do so, to a man who can no longer remember his family yet can still perform beautifully with a vocal group. "We wanted to capture a sense of what it was to be inside the disease," says filmmaker Shari Cookson. "You see...how everything you've learned and been in your life is stripped away—yet you still get these glimmers of the person." (84 min)

Caregivers

Approximately 70 percent of people with Alzheimer's disease live at home and are cared for by family and friends—and the physical and emotional tolls on those caregivers can be extreme. Through five intimate portraits, this program illustrates the stages of Alzheimer's while documenting the sacrifices and successes, frustrations and triumphs, of caregivers experiencing a loved one's gradual descent into dementia. Issues such as denial and guilt are addressed, as are care-related changes in communication and intimacy. Caregiving tips, coping skills, and insights into the hidden rewards of Alzheimer's care are interwoven throughout. (49 min)

Poisoned Minds

Grades 11-Adult 2009 CC 20 min CTV

The world of divorce is scary for any child. Even when spouses split amicably, children can be forced to balance their love and time between two parents. But when a divorce becomes especially toxic, children can become the target of an unrelenting crusade by one parent to destroy the child's relationship with the other. Experts call it parental alienation, a persistent campaign by one parent to poison a child's relationship with the other parent.

Test Your Fast Food Knowledge

Grades 9 - Adult 2010 20 min Human Relations Media

Because many teens eat at fast food restaurants, this video is designed to meet them on their own turf and give them the tools to make smarter and healthier fast food decisions. Using an entertaining quiz format, viewers learn about the dangers of eating too much over-processed, sugar-laden and fat-packed fast food. Participants examine the calorie counts and nutritional breakdown of a fast food jumbo cheeseburger meal to demonstrate the overabundance of fats, trans fats and high calorie content per serving. The program then compares typical items on menus from different fast food restaurants. Viewers learn that you can actually make smart choices at the fast food counter because not all fast food is bad for you. Weight control, balanced diet, vitamins and nutrients can all be part of a smart, limited fast-food diet.

Angola: The Curse of Oil

This program brings home the disturbing reality of daily life in Angola—marked by ramshackle houses, open sewers, and a question that grows louder every day: who benefits from the country's vast oil resources? Outlining the nation's colonial and Cold War traumas, the film examines the civil war between MPLA and UNITA forces and the present-day mismanagement of oil revenues stemming from that conflict. Related topics include China's growing role in the country, the tragedy of child hunger and malnutrition, and Angola's widespread problem of land mine injuries.

Bolivia: Partners, Not Masters

This program examines the wealth generated from Bolivia's natural resources, precious metals in particular, and highlights President Morales efforts to redirect revenues away from what he sees as neoliberal interests. Noting Morales' indigenous heritage, the film explores the meanings behind his motto "Partners not Masters" and his views on the influence of multinational corporations. It also reveals an ongoing struggle for equality among laborers at the Potosí silver mine, where male workers often die young, leaving widows and children to subsist in refuse. Tuvalu: Keeping Heads Above Water

Scientists expect the island nation of Tuvalu to disappear into the sea during the next few decades. If that is true, what will become of the country's citizens and its unique South Pacific culture? Should the traumatic task of evacuation begin now, and if so, to where and under what circumstances? This program grapples with those questions by interviewing key figures in Tuvalu's government and populace while presenting compelling scenes of the ongoing environmental calamity. Centered on the main island of Funafuti, the film explores the growing significance of climate change issues in Tuvalu political life and examines plant species that are dying off due to encroaching sea water—leading to more land erosion. Explore the “global village” of the 21st century...

Global Issues Series

Grades 11-Adult 2010 26-29 min each Films for the Humanities

SPECIAL SERIES PRICE - ONLY $439 - SAVE $40 - Order #393814DV-UO
Individual titles: $119.95 each

The Internet, world travel, international business, and ever-expanding political spheres of interest have turned the 20th-century concept of the global village into the dominant reality of the 21st century. This timely four-part series uses compelling documentary footage from around the world to zero in on the effects and implications of widespread religious fundamentalism, a globalized economy, the ongoing fight for women’s rights, and the worldwide war on terrorism—issues that, in one way or another, impact the lives of everyone. Viewable/printable discussion questions are available online.

Fundamentalist Fervor

Religious fundamentalism underpins some of the world’s most intractable political problems as members of fundamentalist groups seek to influence both domestic and international policy. After identifying general hallmarks of fundamentalist belief, this program places fundamentalist movements within the Christian, Jewish, Islamic, and Hindu religions into their cultural and historical contexts. Movements that are examined include the dispensationalist organization Christians United for Israel, the Jewish haredim, the Jewish settler group Gush Emunim, Hamas, and Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh, a key component of the Hindu “Saffron Brigade.” Some content may be objectionable.

Globalization at a Crossroads

This program explains key principles at the core of global economics and takes a historical look at their effects, focusing on market liberalization and the failed “East Asian miracle”; privatization of basic resources in Bolivia and the severe backlash against it; Russia’s rapid transition to capitalism and the oligarchism and kleptocracy that came to characterize it; and China’s incremental implementation of capitalism under communism. The video also takes stock of the seismic shift in the U.S. economy and its probable effect on the rest of the world.

#393816DV-WO $119.95: DVD

Women’s Rights

Despite the progress of the international women’s movement, women are still fighting to attain the most basic of civil liberties. This program contextualizes that struggle by comparing women’s rights in the U.S. with the status of women in China, Afghanistan, and Kenya. Hopeful signs such as rising levels of education for girls, female representation in government, and business opportunities for women are contrasted with the continuing practice of age-old antithetical abuses that have yet to be eliminated—nonconsensual marriage and severe domestic violence, to name two—and the demoralizing effect of seeing hard-won rights overturned. Some content may be objectionable.

#393817DV-WO $119.95: DVD

Targeting Terror

This program spotlights five nations caught in the crosshairs to examine regional history, terror-related issues, and counterterrorism actions: the U.S., post-9/11, where captured international terrorists have been handled by military rather than civilian courts; the U.K., where fighting the IRA has ultimately conferred little advantage to the country in its battle against the Islamic extremists in its midst; Germany and Japan, whose counterterrorism efforts are constitutionally constrained by their history as aggressors in World War II; and Colombia, a land of narcoterrorism where extradition to America has been the government’s key anti-terror weapon. Some content may be objectionable.

Dangers of Sexting:What Teens Need to KnowGrades 7-12 2010 CC 20 min Human Relations Media

In a recent survey, one in five teens admitted to sending nude or semi-nude photos or videos and more than half said it was common for explicit photos and text messages to be passed around among friends. View teens' real stories: a girl recounts how an explicit picture of her became widely circulated in her school; a boy expresses regret at posting pictures of a girlfriend after they had broken up. Using a peer-to-peer approach, teens talk about the importance of resisting pressures to engage in sexting. They emphasize that you can't assume that anything you send or post is going to remain private; that you can't change your mind once something is out there in cyberspace; and that what you may think is a harmless joke may be interpreted very differently by someone else.

What is the nature of human uniqueness?

The Human Spark

Adult 2010 CC 180 min PBS

After billions of years of life's evolution on this planet, and after recognizable humans first walked its surface, a new human burst upon the scene, apparently unannounced. It was us. Until then our ancestors had shared the planet with other human species. But soon there was only us, possessors of something that gave us unprecedented power over our environment and everything else alive. That something was – is – the Human Spark. What is the nature of human uniqueness? Where did the Human

Spark ignite, and when? And perhaps most tantalizingly, why? In a three-part series, host Alan Alda takes these questions personally, visiting with dozens of scientists on three continents, and participating directly in many experiments – including the detailed examination of his own brain.

The Virus Empire: Silent Killers and Invisible Enemies

Grades 11-Adult 2008 52 min ea Films for the Humanities

During the 20th century, more people died from viral infections than from all the wars around the globe. During the 21st, in a world where air travel can quickly transport a human virus host to any population concentration on Earth, runaway pandemics or bioterror attacks could easily exceed that number. This alarming two-part call to action uses true-to-life dramatizations, detailed 3-D animations, and commentary by virus specialists, WHO and CDC administrators, and other experts to analyze the continual mutation and proliferation of the most diverse group of life forms on the planet—and to propose steps that must be taken to thwart them.

Biodiversity: The Web of Life

Grades 7-12 27 min Human Relations Media
From the penguins in Antarctica to tree frogs in Costa Rica, to E. coli bacteria in the human intestines, this video and print program focuses on the incredible variety of life on our planet and explores the biological processes at work in communities and ecosystems throughout the globe. Students see exotic footage demonstrating how life has adapted to all kinds of ecosystems—from the desert to the rain forest and coral reefs. Viewers will appreciate why biodiversity is so important to their own well being, and will come to recognize how the rapid growth of the human population poses a variety of threats to other species. In addition, the program examines global efforts to protect biodiversity through habitat preservation, the protection of air and water quality, and—as a last resort—captive breeding.

Classification of Living Things

Grades 7-12 23 min Human Relations Media
There are millions of different species living today, and these represent a tiny fraction of all the species that existed in the past. Using beautiful videography and easy-to-interpret graphics, this program illustrates how over thousands of years people have been trying to find meaning and order in the diversity of life. Students learn that how we classify living things has changed with the discovery of new kinds of organisms, and with our growing understanding of evolution and genetics. The video looks at the differences of each of the traditional five kingdoms: Monera, Protista, Fungi, Plantae, and Animalia. It then describes how this five-kingdom approach to classification has been modified as a result of recent discoveries about different types of bacteria. The video stresses that the ways in which we organize and categorize living things will continue to change in the future as new discoveries are made.

Exploring Viruses

Grades 6-8 23 min Human Relations Media
This video takes students on a voyage of the human body and explains the role that viruses play. The structure of viruses is illustrated as students learn about antigens, DNA, capsids (protein coats) and capsomeres. Video shows how viruses invade bacteria by injecting themselves inside cells. Specific viruses are examined such as HIV, Ebola, polio and herpes. The role of our immune system in fighting viruses is also explored.

Exploring Bacteria

Grades 6-8 23 min Human Relations Media
This video educates students about the basic structure of the bacteria cell along with how the cell carries out life processes such as ingestion and reproduction. Explores the many different types of bacteria, emphasizing that most forms are important as decomposers and are critical to the food chain. Also explored is the relationship between humans and bacteria: what is good about bacteria, how bacteria can harm us, and how bacteria and humans have evolved together.

Exploring Inheritance and Genetics

Grades 6-8 23 min Human Relations Media
Clear graphics, live action photography, and computer animation reveal to students the fascinating world of Mendelian genetics. Mendel’s pea plant experiments are reproduced to illustrate how genetic traits are passed on from one generation to the next. Along the way various terms are defined and understood, such as purebred, cross, genes, alleles, dominant and recessive. Students also learn how to understand Punnet squares to determine the probability that particular traits will show up in successive generations.

This new 3-part series examines environmental and ecological initiatives undertaken by Canadian schools and school children. We filmed and interviewed students, teachers, parents, administrators, custodians and environmental experts about what they have done or what we can do to "make a difference" to ensure the long-term health and survival of our planet and its resources. The various segments have been produced to match the science curriculum of all provinces and territories. In addition, the programs cross over into other areas of the curriculum such as the arts, character education, aboriginal education, language arts and mathematics.

Program 1: iGreen

Grades 5-8 2010 approx 20 min McIntyre Media & Mythic Productions

The urbanization of North America has led to the development of concrete jungles which in turn leads to "urban heat islands". These lead to higher levels of air pollution and increased temperatures within these areas. Now, more than ever, plants and trees are so important for our well-being. Not only do they look nice, but they protect us from harmful UV rays, act as wind barriers, reduce water runoff and soil erosion, filter air pollution and absorb harmful carbon dioxide. Schools across the country have implemented "greening" programs to help create a better environment in their communities. Take a look at some of these exciting schoolyard ventures.

Program 2: iConserve

Grades 5-8 2010 approx 20 min McIntyre Media & Mythic Productions

Canada is one of the highest energy consuming nations in the world! Much of the energy we use is generated through the burning of fossil fuels - a non-renewable energy source. Not only is that a problem, but burning of fossil fuels creates environmental problems such as the formation of acid rain. How can we help? There are some very simple things like turning off lights and shutting off computer screens. Some schools in the country have taken it a step further by installing solar panels and geothermal systems. Take a look!

Program 3: iReduce

Grades 5-8 2010 approx 20 min McIntyre Media & Mythic Productions

We produce a LOT of garbage in one year - in fact, every day. The cost of managing all this waste is high and costs us all. Landfills are the most common methods used to dispose of garbage. Think of all the problems associated with these sites - environmental noise, dust, disease, and leaching to name a few. We have to find ways to reduce our waste. In this program, we visit schools who have completed waste audits, use worms (yes, that's right!), and talk about the use of excessive packaging.

Religion

The Buddha

Grades 11-Adult 2009 CC 120 min PBS

Two and a half millennia ago, a new religion was born in India, generated from the ideas of the Buddha, a mysterious Indian sage who gained enlightenment while he sat under a large, shapely fig tree. The Buddha never claimed to be God or his emissary on earth, only that he was a human being who had found a kind of serenity that others could find, too. This documentary tells the story of his life, a journey especially relevant in our own times.

Ken Burns: National Parks – America's Best Idea

Grades 11-Adult 2009 CC 720 min/6 discs PBS

"The National Parks, America's Best Idea" - which is scheduled to be shown over six nights on PBS in the fall - is stunning and restorative, like the parks themselves."

Timothy Egan, NEW YORK TIMES
THE NATIONAL PARKS is the story of an idea as uniquely American as the Declaration of Independence: that the most special places in the nation should be preserved for everyone. The series traces the birth of the national park idea in the mid-1800s and follows its evolution for nearly 150 years, chronicling the addition of new parks through the stories of the people who helped create them.

in Canadian Schools

Part Three: iReduce

This new 3-part series examines environmental and ecological initiatives undertaken by Canadian schools and school children. We filmed and interviewed students, teachers, parents, administrators, custodians and environmental experts about what they have done or what we can do to "make a difference" to ensure the long-term health and survival of our planet and its resources. The various segments have been produced to match the science curriculum of all provinces and territories. In addition, the programs cross over into other areas of the curriculum such as the arts, character education, aboriginal education, language arts and mathematics.
