“These resources are spectacular. Best money Indigenous Ed ever spent. I had to put together a grade 6 social studies unit and ON-Core saved me so much time. I found quality resources which were fitted to the specific strand I was teaching at the time. So helpful!”

- Tammy Denome, Indigenous Education Lead, London District Catholic SB.

“ON-CORE is one of my ‘go to’ collections when assisting teachers to find engaging, relevant and current learning resources. Being able to search by curriculum subject, course and even strand is a significant convenience for our busy staff. The substantial content supporting our Indigenous Education initiatives ensures we are providing authentic resources and voices to support learning. While I work primarily with teachers, I’ve also had the opportunity to introduce ON-Core to our students for their research projects. They love that the collection is so accessible and they can always find something in their subject area.”

- Patricia Sutherland, Manager of Learning Commons Services, Upper Canada District School Board
